

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

January 29, 2018

Shawn Duffy, President of Duffy Consulting Services, LLC has accepted two roles as both Mentor and Judge at this year's Fishhackathon!

New Market, Maryland, January 29, 2018 - Duffy Consulting Services, LLC, (DCS), a provider of security assessment and compliance services, has joined in this year's Fishhackathon on the weekend of February 10-11. The president of DCS, Shawn Duffy, will be both a mentor to help developers as well as a judge in helping local software and hardware developers produce products to help make our waters, marine life, fishers, and aquaculture practices more sustainable and equitable.

Fishhackathon is a global Hackathon event running in dozens of cities around the world. It unites technology and innovation to help global support of our vital water systems. They welcome diverse teams with varying background and levels of expertise. There will be city-level prizes and global prizes for the best solutions. This series is a result of a partnership between HackerNest (an international tech nonprofit organization) and the US Department of State. You can find more and how to participate at www.hackernest.com/fishhackathon or sending an email to fishhackathon@hackernest.com.

"We are excited to participate in this activity for our community," said President and CEO Shawn Duffy. "This is a great way to bring innovation to our area as well as global recognition to the need to protect and support our water and marine ecosystems."
